

Model selection for fast density estimation.
Laszlo Gyorfi

Abstract.

Let the unknown multivariate density belong to a nested sequence of families of densities. The density estimation consists of two steps: the first step is the model selection, i.e., one has to decide on the smallest family containing the actual density, while the second step is an appropriate projection of the empirical distribution to the selected family.